Degrees Offered: B.A. and M.A. in Spanish, B.A. only in classics

Studies are available in classics, Greek, Latin, Portuguese, and Spanish. For information on the B.A. degree in classics, see Classics (pages 126–127). Undergraduate majors in Hispanic studies select one of four options: literature, linguistics, translation, or Latin American studies. Qualified students may undertake independent work. To provide students with the opportunity to live and study in a Spanish-speaking environment, the department offers an opportunity to spend the fall semester in Chile.

Degree Requirements for B.A. in Hispanic Studies

Students majoring in Hispanic studies must complete at least 30 semester hours in upper-level courses (300 or 400 level); a double major must complete at least 24 semester hours in such courses. Requirements for the major differ according to the options selected. Majors should read the “Options for Spanish Majors” (available in department office) and consult with the undergraduate adviser regarding specific course prerequisites, requirements, and to recommend sequence. The department must approved all major programs of study. At least half of the courses for the major must be taken at Rice University.

Fall Semester in Chile. The department offers a fall semester in Chile in conjunction with the University of Chile in Santiago. Rice students in good standing are eligible for this program, which gives them access to a variety of courses at the University of Chile. Since its inception in 1989, the program has attracted students from universities all over the U.S. Brochures and application materials are available in the department office. Internships are available. The resident director of the Chile program is Professor Emerita Joan Rea.
