DEGREE OFFERED: BA

Asian Studies is an interdisciplinary major that explores the national, regional, and local cultures of Asia, past and present, with a particular emphasis on the way that these diverse cultures interact with one another and with the rest of the world. The major is built around courses in the humanities and social sciences divisions as well as two team-taught interdisciplinary core courses, Introduction to Asian Civilizations and Perspectives on Modern Asia. Some residential college courses may qualify for Asian Studies credit.

DEGREE REQUIREMENTS FOR BA IN ASIAN STUDIES

For general university requirements, see Graduation Requirements in this publication. The undergraduate Asian Studies major consists of 30 hours or more of course work. There are three basic requirements:

1. One foundational course: either ASIA 211/HART 211/HIST 206 Introduction to Asian Civilizations or ASIA 212 Perspectives on Modern Asia.
2. Nine additional courses drawn from at least three of the departments offering courses with predominantly Asian content. In the case of cross-listed courses, any one of the departments or programs appearing in the cross-listing can be used to satisfy this particular requirement.

Note: Of the 10 courses required for the Asian Studies major (that is, ASIA 211/HART 211/HIST 206, or ASIA 212, plus the nine additional courses mentioned above):

- Four, but no more than four, of the 10 can be Asian language courses. (For details on the Asian Studies language requirement, see #3 below.)

- Four of the 10 must be at the 300-level or above.
3. Asian Studies majors must have the equivalent of at least two years of coursework in a single Asian language (this may include an Asian language other than those offered by Rice). As indicated above, up to four Asian language courses can be used to satisfy the 10-course Asian Studies major requirement. Students who have placed into the third year (300-level) or higher of an Asian language will have satisfied our proficiency requirement for the major. If such students continue with the same language (or decide to take another Asian language), they, too, can count up to four of these Asian language courses toward the 10-course Asian Studies major requirement.

The following courses, not all of which are taught every year, may be used to satisfy the major requirements. Note that a number of these courses are cross-listed.
